Mr Everett American
Grosvener Place

5 Aug^t 1844.

My dear Mr Grenville,

When I had the gratification some time since of looking over your noble library, I understood from you that you had no copy of Elphinstone's Indian Bible, & I expressed the hope that it might be in my power to procure one, & offer it to your Acceptance.

A good copy has lately fallen into my hands of the first Edition, & I should esteem it a great privilege, to be allowed to place it on your shelves.

It is a work of very considerable literary curiosity. A translation of the entire Scriptures, made by one man, performing the laborious duties of a parish clergyman in an infant colony, into a barbarous & difficult language, which he began to study at the age of forty two years, is no ordinary achievement.

It is a subject of painful reflection, that the dialect should have so completely passed away; - with those who spoke it, - in two centuries, that it may be doubted whether there is now living an individual, capable of reading or understanding this to station. -

It was printed in Cambridge in England, at the expense of the (English) Society for propagating the gospel in Foreign Parts.

With my best wishes for your health & happiness, I remain,

My dear Mr Grenville,

very truly, Yours'

obliged faithful servant,

Edward Everett,

H. B. Baker. Massachusetts.

This seems a language quite different from the Miernan. Wookelampud is for man, and there is no ^{Indian} name for God. Maillards paper contains the map with the Latin notes. Credo, which may be compared with the virginian & Greenland, Icelandic Lapland & Calmanu Tartar.

XLIX. A. Genesis. no word for limestone
